Snowsports thought leader and expert in skiing, sledding, tubing, and ski area operations. Ski instructor certified by the Professional Ski Instructors of America (PSIA) since 1982. Division Director, Discipline chairperson, Education Team Member, Trainer, and Examiner for multiple PSIA divisions. United States Ski and Snowboard Association (USSA) Certified L100 Race Coach. Over 53-seasons of on-hill snowsports experience, including safety, risk management, administration, and operations. Clear understanding of snowsports physics and mechanics through PSIA, USSA, and engineering education and over 40-years of professional engineering practice. Licensed Professional Engineer (Civil Engineering) with an active residential structural engineering, land development, and regulatory agency expert witness practice.

KNOWLEDGE, SKILLS, AND OTHER CHARACTERISTICS

Mr. Wall's communication, research, writing, and professional experience give him the ability to originate expert reports and provide testimony that articulate convincing fact-based narratives. At age 51, Mr. Wall was admitted to the Master of Public Administration (MPA) program at Montana State University in Bozeman, Montana. At age 53, after two years of intensive research and peer reviewed writing, he earned his MPA with a 3.97 grade point average. Throughout his career, Mr. Wall has developed the ideal skill set for expert witness work, grounded in over 53-ski seasons, over 42-seasons as a ski instructor certified by PSIA, consisting of five levels of certification and two levels of accreditation, and being certified by USSA as a L100 Race Coach. His expertise has also been enhanced by his practice as a licensed Civil Engineer (since 1987), his voracious lifelong learning, business acumen, graduate level communication, forensic research, and writing skills, and entrepreneurial mastery. This exceptional skill set gives Mr. Wall the ability to write impressive expert reports and provide authentic testimony that explains complex concepts in plain easy to understand language that educates, influences, and has a high-impact on opposing counsel, trial judges, and juries.
